Repatriation Commission Adopts Procedures Asked By Communists

Panmunjom, Wednesday (AP) — The Korean repatriation commission announced today the "ground rules" under which the Allies and Communists will seek to persuade reluctant war prisoners to return home.

The rules—providing for individual interviews and requiring all prisoners to listen to the "explanations" regardless of their wishes—evoked bitter comment from a United Nations Command spokesman.

"The commission bought everything the Communists wanted," he said.

The U. N. Command has vigorously opposed both points. It contended that prisoners could be intimidated in individual interviews and that no prisoner should be forced to hear a sales talk on returning home.

Although requiring each prisoner to listen to the explanations, the rules provide that a prisoner cannot be forced to answer questions. However, observers cannot protest during the interviews against the tactics taken by the "persuaders."

Explanations are to be permitted nine hours daily except Sunday with an hour out for lunch.

The explanations were scheduled to begin tomorrow, but a further postponement appeared likely because of a dispute over the location and design of "explanation centers." The explanations had been postponed from last Saturday.

The centers, in the demilitarized zone, were built for the processing of nearly 23,000 prisoners, 22,600 of them prisoners of the Allies who have repeatedly refused to return to Red rule. The rest are Allied POWs.

The major provisions of the rules include:

"Explanations and interviews can be given to groups or individual prisoners of war as requested by the explaining representatives of the nations to which the prisoners of war belong. Every one of the prisoners of war shall attend the explanations and interviews."

"Any act on the part of prisoners of war impeding the work of explanations and interviews is prohibited."

"Several explanations and interviews to the same group of prisoners of war or the same individual prisoner are permissible within the time described in Article 8 of the armistice terms of reference of the commission."

The rule applying to prisoners "impeding" the explanations indicated the commission still is apprehensive over possible POW rebellion against compulsory attendance at the explanations.

Gasoline War Might Spread

Elizabeth, N. J. (AP) Scores of gas stations in Essex and Union counties cut prices 2 to 7 cents a gallon yesterday and the head of the New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Assn. predicted that the new price war might spread over the entire Eastern Seaboard.

More than 70 stations slashed prices on both regular and premium gasoline along Routes 1 and 27 in Essex and Union.

John E. Dressler, executive secretary of the retailers assn., which represents some 3,000 dealers, said the price slashes resulted from an artificial wholesale market, created when distributors increased tank wagon prices this summer.

Consumers were quick to fill their auto tanks with gas selling from 19.2 to 22.9 cents a gallon. The usual price averages near 25.9 for regular gas.

Russia Agrees To Big Four Talks To Ease Tensions Provided Red China Receives Bid

Washington (AP)—Soviet Russia yesterday offered to talk over world tensions with the Big Three Western powers at two separate diplomatic conferences—provided Communist China is also invited to one of them at least.

The State Department promptly denounced the Kremlin's offer as "evasive and a continuation of dilatory tactics" that have prevented earlier East-West meetings.

The Soviet proposal, set forth in a formal note, ignored a previous Western invitation for Russia to attend a foreign ministers meeting at Lugano, Switzerland, on Oct. 15.

The text of the 10-page note was kept secret, for the time being, by the British, French and American foreign offices.

However, informed diplomats in Moscow and Washington said a preliminary study indicated Russian proposals:

One—A meeting of representatives of Russia, the United States, Britain, France and Red China to discuss "a lessening of tensions in international relations."

Two—A Big Four European conference, presumably without Communist China, to tackle the deadlocked German problem plus "all proposals introduced in the course of preparing the conference."

The Russians appeared to condition the European conference on a Big Five meeting which would include Red China.

Apparently no specific dates for either meeting were proposed by the Soviets.

A top American official, talking to newsmen, made it clear the United States remains opposed to bringing Red China into any discussion of general European tensions.

Secretary of State Dulles began conferences with Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who returned from Moscow Monday for consultations, before discussing Russia's new note with President Eisenhower.

Wilson Seeks $40 Billion Lid On Budget

Washington, (AP) Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated yesterday his department is trying to put a 40 billion dollar lid on its spending budget for the next fiscal year—about two billion below the current figure.

Speaking with Wilson at a news conference, Assistant Secretary of Air Roger Lewis said it may be possible to have a 120-wing Air Force by next July, when the new fiscal year starts, instead of the 114-wing "interim" force first considered under the Eisenhower administration's economy program.

Wilson told newsmen he doubts "very much" that the Russians have a policy for "starting a war right now," but he cautioned against complacency. Some unforeseen incident, he said, could touch off a war.

Wilson reiterated his belief that the Russians are capable of making hydrogen bombs of various sizes, but he commented: "I don't know they are so much ahead of schedule."

Often mentioned as a possible next president of the West German Republic, Reuter worked closely with the conservative Bonn government in trying to reunite a free Germany.

Expressions of the grief for his loss and the esteem for the figure he had made in the post-war world began to pour in after the sudden fatal attack.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said the death "is a great loss for the German cause."

Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Timberman, U. S. commandant in Berlin, said: "I feel that he died like a soldier, in the line of duty, his devotion to the cause of freedom has become a symbol throughout the world."

U. S. High Commissioner James E. Conant said Reuter's leadership of "the brave community of Berlin has been a symbol of the democratic spirit in Germany."

The heavy-jowled mayor, who liked to wear a black beret, visited the United States last March and conferred with President Eisenhower in Washington. On a speaking tour of the country, he enlisted aid for the thousands of East German refugees who continue to pour into West Berlin for asylum.

Dr. Walter Schreiber, as deputy lord mayor, assumes Reuter's job for the present.

Names Stricken From Ballot

Wilkes-Barre (AP) — The names of 18 candidates in Luzerne County, 15 Democrats and three Republicans, were ordered to be removed from the November ballot by the board of elections yesterday because the candidates failed to file loyalty oaths with their nomination certificates.

Impellitteri will run under the banner of the "Experience" party, the same one under whose flag he won the mayoralty in 1950 after failing to get the Democratic nomination.

His opponents will be besides Wagner, City Council President Rudolph Halley, enrolled Democrat running on the Liberal party ticket, Harold Riegelman, Republican, and Clifford McAvoy, American Labor Party.

Mrs. Sabatino suffered a skull fracture and extensive fractures of the facial bones. She and another passenger, Jerry Dorfingler, 31, of Stroudsburg RD3, were thrown from the car after the crash.

Sabatino and Mrs. Julia Woolver, Stroudsburg RD3, another passenger in the car, suffered only minor bruises.

According to Wind Gap police chief W. L. Templeton, the accident occurred when the west-bound Sabatino auto failed to negotiate a curve on Lehigh Ave.

Surviving are her husband, Anthony; two sons, John A. and Joseph, both at home; a daughter, Lenora, at home; mother, Mrs. Mary Ricci, Bangor; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Capellello, Philadelphia, Mrs. Sarah Ricci, Easton; Mrs. Mary Pinto, and Mrs. Rose Castone, both of Bangor; three brothers, Joseph, Arthur and George Ricci, all of Bangor.

New York Mayor To Run Again As Independent

New York (AP) — Mayor Vincent Impellitteri, beaten two to one by Robert Wagner Jr. in the recent Democratic mayoral primary, said yesterday he will try again as an independent in the Nov. 3 general election.

In a statement, Impellitteri said he had accepted a "call" to run for reelection because of "the choice of candidates being offered to the voting public if I don't make the race."

Impellitteri will run under the banner of the "Experience" party, the same one under whose flag he won the mayoralty in 1950 after failing to get the Democratic nomination.

League Votes 8-0 To Reverse Previous Stand

New York (AP) — Baltimore, the spawning ground of Babe Ruth, was awarded the St. Louis American League franchise yesterday.

By a unanimous vote of 8-0 at a meeting of the league owners—the third in three days—the Browns were moved to Baltimore which bowed out of the American League just 50 years ago in 1903.

Bill Veeck, the colorful owner of the Browns who has been trying to get out of St. Louis for more than a year, sold his 79 per cent controlling interest to a Baltimore group headed by Attorney Clarence Miles for $2,475,000, including all minor league properties.

As a result of the transfer, the way also was paved for the league to expand to 10 clubs, including the two Pacific Coast cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, who led the fight to award the Browns franchise to Los Angeles, admitted he voted for Baltimore "because I did not want any discussion in the league" in fact, he said, he made the Baltimore motion.

But, he added:

"I made this motion with the provision that the American League expand into a 10-club league to include the two Pacific Coast cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco."

Webb added that his efforts to get the Browns for Los Angeles had failed through because "they would not produce the money they were talking about." The Los Angeles syndicate had said it would produce six million dollars in 10 days if it got the franchise.

Autumn Heat Marks Broken

(By The Associated Press)

An unprecedented autumn heat wave seared a large area of the mid-continent like a blast from summer's weather oven yesterday. Old heat records were vaporized into oblivion.

The mercury bounded to 99.2 degrees in Chicago. It smashed the old 87-degree record for the date by 12.2 degrees. The old record had stood since 1898. The new reading also set a new record of 41 days of 90-degree or higher temperatures for the year and is the highest on record for so late in the season.

The temperature soared to 97 degrees in Indianapolis, topping the previous high reading of 88 for the date by nine degrees.

The 101 recorded at St. Louis made it the hottest day this late in the season in the 80-year-old annals of the weather bureau. It was the 78th day of 90-plus heat there this year, also a record.

The mercury hit 101 at Little Rock, Ark., 100 at Quincy, Ill., 97 at Nashville, Tenn., and 95.3 at Oklahoma City, Okla.

The torrid wave washed away heat records for the date that had stood for as long as 55 years. Here are some of the readings:

Dallas, Tex., 100; Danversport, Iowa, 98; Cincinnati, 99; Burlington, Iowa, 98; Columbus, Ohio, 96; Dayton, Ohio, 95; Cleveland, 94; Grand Rapids, Mich., 93; Detroit, 89.7.

Hoover Heads New Group On Reorganization

Washington (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover, appearing romant at 79, yesterday accepted a new public service heading his second bipartisan commission to reorganize the "appalling" maze of federal agencies.

With President Eisenhower looking on, Hoover with 11 other commission members took the oath of office at the White House.

Then, presiding at a three-hour closed-door meeting, Hoover got authority to set up nine "task forces" of distinguished experts to do reorganization spadework.

A major goal, Hoover announced, will be to eliminate by merger or otherwise, some of the 75 or 80 agencies which report to the White House "get them out of the President's hair."

Threats Of Longshoremen's Strike At Midnight Mounts As ILA Fights To Survive

New York, (AP) — Federal mediators yesterday warned government agencies to brace for an East Coast waterfront strike at midnight today. There seemed scant hope of heading it off.

Tugboat crewmen reportedly were prepared to honor longshoremen's picket lines—a maneuver that could cripple deep sea shipping from Maine to Virginia.

The orphaned International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) scheduled the strike in the midst of a desperate fight for survival, after its ouster last week from the AFL for racketeering.

The ILA is demanding a 13 cents an hour wage and welfare package for 60,000 longshoremen 40-600 of them in New York. Shippers have offered 8 1/2 cents. The present basic wage is $2.27 an hour.

Late yesterday the employers flatly rejected the ILA demands and said they would ask the government to invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

Talk of Taft-Hartley law intervention by President Eisenhower apparently failed to take into account the nearness of the strike deadline. The mechanics of putting the Taft-Hartley cooling off period into effect would take about a week.

In Washington during the day, the AFL filed with the National Labor Relations Board notice that it seeks to wrest waterfront bargaining recognition away from the ILA.

The AFL has set up a new union of the same name to replace the ousted ILA. Some 2,000 dockers in three of the ILA's old locals already have bolted to the new AFL setup.

This sudden, bitter rivalry for control of East Coast piers was expected to complicate enormously any strike and perhaps explode into a bloody pier war.

The last waterfront strike—a 25-day wildcat walkout in New York in 1951 tied up a billion dollars worth of cargo and cost local shippers 40 million dollars in losses.

The Commerce and Industry Association of New York, Inc., said a prolonged new strike would endanger the jobs of an estimated 800,000 persons.

9 P.M. Burglar

Quincy, Ill. (AP) — The strange story of a 30-year-old mother who police said tucked her five young-children into bed and went out at night, riding a bicycle, to loot homes was unfolded yesterday.

She is Mrs. Bonnie Willing who has been held in city jail without charge since Saturday night when Detective Albert Thesen said he caught her red-handed in a residence while the owners were out.

Police Chief Ray Welsh said he believes Mrs. Willing broke into at least 10 homes since January. He said two beaver coats taken in one burglary were recovered from a closet in her home.

Welsh said Mrs. Willing also related she had chartered a small plane for a flight to St. Louis to cash $800 in stolen bonds and sell jewelry which brought only $18.

She flew so that she would not

Missing Boy Thought Seen With Couple

Kansas City (AP) — A meager clue, and intimations the kidnapers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease were trying to make contact, brought a faint bit of hope yesterday for frantic parents, desperate for word of their missing child.

The faint clue was word received by the Johnson County, Kan., sheriff's office that a child answering the description of the missing boy was seen in a pickup truck Monday, accompanied by a man and a woman. Bobby was abducted about 11 a.m. Monday.

Robert C. Greenlease, the father, gave the intimation that a contact with the kidnapers was a possibility.

Close associates said that if a ransom demand were made, arrangements had been made to obtain the currency to meet it, at any time of day or night.

At midday Greenlease and Robert Lederman, a business associate, left the Greenlease home in suburban Mission Hills, Kan.

"We think they are trying to make contact," the father told reporters. He was sobbing.

On his return a short time later he said no contact had been made. He added that he and Lederman had been in his office briefly.

Meanwhile, the Johnson County, Kan., sheriff's office said a truck driver had reported seeing a child answering Bobby's description in a pickup truck with a man and woman going west on 75th St. near suburban Overland Park, Kan., yesterday.

If the child were Bobby it would indicate that the kidnapers had crossed the Missouri-Kansas state line. The school from which the boy was taken is in Missouri.

The boy's father appealed to sightseers to stay away from the home to avoid any possibility of alarming the abductors. Reporters and photographers also moved back at his request.

"About all we can do is sweat, wring our hands and hope," Greenlease, millionaire automobile distributor, said.

Bobby was taken from the fashionable Notre Dame de Sion school by a woman who claimed to be Bobby's aunt. She told the nun in charge at the school that the boy's mother had suffered a heart attack and that it was necessary to take him to the hospital.

Before the nun went to get the boy, she suggested to the "aunt" that she step into the chapel and pray for the child's mother.

"I'm not a Catholic, but I hope God heard my prayer," the woman told the nun as she and Bobby left the building.

A cab driver told police the woman had him take her and the child to a parking lot near the school. There they left the cab and entered a car with a Kansas license. That is the last word police have of them.

Cardinal Arrested

Rome, (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, the Roman Catholic primate whom Communist Poland has declared relieved of his church duties, was described by Western sources yesterday as under arrest.

The Vatican City newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said armed police raided Cardinal Wyszynski's residence in Warsaw last Friday night, made a minute, all-night search of the premises and arrested the Cardinal Saturday morning.

August Zaleski, president of the Polish government in exile in London, said the 52-year-old primate, archbishop of Warsaw and Gnesen, was arrested at the Warsaw residence "and taken by secret police to an unknown monastery in the country, where he is not allowed to communicate with the outside world."

Zaleski declared the action was part of a Communist plot to provoke a revolt which could be crushed by a blood bath. He urged the Polish people, virtually all of whom are Catholics, to remain calm.

Civil Defense Council Drafts Plans For Alert Next Tuesday

Test Slated To Begin At 7:02 P.M.

Monroe County's Civil Defense officials currently are mapping last minute plans for the state-wide test scheduled for next Tuesday beginning at 7:02 p.m.

Termed "Operation Flash," the test will alert all area headquarters to man control centers to aid in the exercise which pinpoints Philadelphia as the target for an atom bomb.

Bomb is slated to "hit" the Quaker City at 7:05 when the red signal sounds. Monroe County's fire companies, under the direction of Marvin Abel, East Stroudsburg fire chief, will send equipment in to action, according to Paul M. Crown, Monroe County Civil Defense executive director.

Monroe is one of 11 Eastern Pennsylvania counties which will be called upon to assist in Philadelphia's emergency. Other counties are Pike, Carbon, Lehigh, Northampton, Montgomery, Delaware, Chester, Lancaster, Bucks and Berks.

Control centers will be manned from 6:30 p.m. until inactivated by a message from Eastern area headquarters, expected at 9:30 p.m.

Philadelphia Civil Defense Council will furnish the Eastern area headquarters at Ogontz with information on its needs as a solution of the "Operation Flash" exercise. In this manner C.D. officials expect to be able to tell area counties what pumps, police, rescue and welfare workers are needed, and how many homeless are to be cared for.

Monroe County is earmarked as a mass care center, along with Pike County.

The state-wide test is aimed at proving the opportunity to test the public air raid warning system; to provide opportunity for public participation; to give communication facilities and mobile units the chance for a limited test and to gain experience to promulgate rules and regulations in the event of enemy attack.

Only two signals will sound: the red alert and the white, or "all clear." The former, consisting of three-minute "wailing" of sirens, a three-minute series of short blasts on horns and whistles, or a combination of the two, will sound at 7:02, ending at 7:05.

The state-wide attack period is slated from 7:05 to 7:10. And the all clear is scheduled for 7:10 to 7:17, consisting of one-minute steady blast on sirens, horns and whistles, then two minutes of silence, and then a second one-minute steady blast of alarms.

No halt in industrial production or construction will occur, and rail and commercial air traffic will continue on schedule during the period. Passengers at terminals, however, are expected to seek shelter.

Owners and operators of stores, hotels and other indoor business places will be expected to carry out the attack plans using shelter areas during condition red, from 7:02 to 7:10. Outdoor businesses are expected to suspend business and request employees and customers to "take cover."

All private and commercial vehicles on public roads excepting the Pennsylvania Turnpike, will be brought to a halt and drivers are to pull to the side and leave a lane for emergency vehicles. Motors are to be turned off with only parking lights burning. Occupants are asked to leave their cars and take cover during the eight-minute period. All traffic will move at 7:17, when the test ends.

Persons on the street are expected to take cover immediately and remain there until the all clear sounds. In private homes people are urged to do exactly as they would under actual raid conditions. Persons are urged not to use the telephone from 7:02 to 7:10.

Monroe County school children will participate during the day by holding tests in the respective buildings, Crown said.

State Kiwanians Elect Governor

Philadelphia, (AP) — Samuel A. Wagner of Erie yesterday was elected governor of the Pennsylvania District of Kiwanis International.

The state Kiwanians, in the final day of their 36th annual convention, also re-elected Matthew Connell of Philadelphia state district treasurer and named Benjamin Glinder of Erie, state secretary.

Delegates, in a move to ease geographical division of its state-wide clubs, added three more divisions to make a total of 20.

Dr. David F. Kohn, Mt. Pocono, will be out of town from Oct. 4 to Oct. 25, inclusive. — Adv.

County Lists 17,863 On Voting Rolls

About half the county's population will be eligible to vote in November, according to figures released yesterday at the court house.

Population is an estimated 34,000. Number registered for voting is an unofficial 17,863.

Registration closed Monday. Yesterday Mrs. Grace Scheller, registration clerk, reported a total 378 persons registered since May 25 when clerks began signing people up for the November election.

This, added to the previous total of 17,485, produced the unofficial number of 17,863.

Breakdown of the 378 registrants shows: Republican 187; Democrat 182; non-partisan three; independent six.

Bushkill Boy Sees Bear

A six-year-old Bushkill boy saw a bear yesterday morning.

Timothy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Van Why Jr., who lives five miles west of Bushkill, was on his way to the school bus stop nearest his home.

Tim was about ready to round the last bend before the bus stop when he spied a big, black bear. Like most youngsters taking their first look at a bear—domestic or otherwise—Timothy was excited.

The bear was the talk of Bushkill and Middle Smithfield schools, where Timothy is enrolled, the rest of the day.

Late yesterday Timothy's story received verification from Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hartmann, also of Bushkill.

Said the Hartmanns: They had also seen a bear in approximately the same location.

Bottleneck Develops In Court

Nine cases remained to be tried in county court yesterday but a temporary bottleneck developed.

Both President Judge Fred W. Davis and President Judge Clarence E. Bodie of Wayne County are present for trial work at the September term.

But yesterday only Judge Bodie could preside.

The reason is that attorneys George T. Robinson and Forrest Mervine are involved in all but one of the remaining cases. Yesterday the two were opposing each other over a trespass action.

Until the suit ends, none of the other cases in which they are involved can be tried.

ESHS Class Tours Jail, Courthouse

An on-the-spot observation of due process of law was the purpose yesterday of a visit to Monroe County Courthouse by East Stroudsburg High School "Problems of Democracy" students.

Supervised by their teacher, Mrs. Kathleen Butz, the students sat through the closing moments of a theft case in which the defendant was found "not guilty."

The students were guided through the courthouse and County Jail by Sheriff Jacob Altomero, who introduced the group to employees in all county offices where the function of each office was explained.

President Judge Fred W. Davis outlined the purpose and protocol of the courtroom, answering questions from the student group.

The students were in charge of all arrangements for the visit, Mrs. Butz said. A chairman was elected by the class. All committee members served on a voluntary basis—a practice which has been utilized in the East Stroudsburg P.O.D. classroom for many years, Mrs. Butz said.

Law Aimed At Icebox Deaths

Harrisburg, (AP) — The Harrisburg city council yesterday passed an ordinance aimed at preventing children from being trapped in discarded refrigerators or ice boxes.

The new measure, which becomes effective 10 days, requires persons discarding such containers to remove door fastenings. Failure to comply with the ordinance would result in a $100 fine or 30 days imprisonment.

Correll Smith Acquitted Of Larceny Count

Correll Smith, 42, of 32 Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, was found innocent yesterday on a charge of stealing more than $500 from another East Stroudsburg man.

The jury deliberated an hour before freeing Smith on the larceny charge.

He testified Smith stayed at his apartment Aug. 29 and that in the morning both Smith and the wallet with the money were missing.

Smith testified he shared some beer and food with Lee at the latter's apartment and then left.

Car Causes $350 Damages

Damages totaled an estimated $350 early yesterday when the car of Malcolm Stepp, 22, Scranton, crashed into a curb, phone pole, route marker and curb on Park Ave., Stroudsburg.

Stroudsburg police said a charge of driving too fast for conditions will be filed against Stepp.

The accident occurred at 1:50 a. m. Police said Stepp was driving south. His car struck the curb, jumped it, hit the telephone pole, then veered back across the road to the left, snapped off a route marker sign, veered back to the right, hit the curb and stopped, police said.

Stepp was uninjured. He was alone.

Meetings Slated By East Borough School Groups

A meeting of East Stroudsburg High School students wishing to attend college next year was held at 8:45 a. m. yesterday at the school.

Included on the potential college attendance list were all business, liberal arts, technical and other schools.

State To Build New Steel Bridge To Replace Span Wrecked By Truck June 20

Construction of an open deck 60-foot steel bridge at SnSydersville, to replace a steel truss structure which toppled June 20 under the weight of a heavy truck, is slated within the next two weeks.

Arthur Dinstel, supervisor for Monroe County's State Highway Department, said last night the new crossing will be 24 feet wide. The old bridge across McMichael's Creek was 12 feet wide.

Dinstel said the King St., East Stroudsburg bridge, under construction for the past two months, also will be ready for erection of steel "I" beams in two weeks. At present vehicles are traveling across an earth-filled tract which cuts in front of the King Ribbon Mill property.

Only the sidewalk remains to be completed at the Buttermilk Falls new bridge at Minisink Hills. Traffic was re-routed in the Shawnee section for several months while workers constructed the new bridge, but resumed this summer.

Dinstel said progress is slow on the Route 90 development from Paradise to Cresco in Barrett Township. Workers began June 29 to rebuild the 2.18-mile stretch and traffic has been re-routed over Route 290 to Canadensis, with a cutoff to the Cresco Railroad station on Leg. Rt. 45029.

Efforts to speed construction to the junction of Routes 90 and 171, thereby opening one traffic artery to Paradise and Cresco, are under way, but no date for completion is in sight, Dinstel said.

The new highway will be 22 feet wide with 10 foot shoulders and replaces a narrow, curved road used before. The highway construction ends 300 feet south of the Cresco railroad station where a cut-off to a new bridge will be built in the future.

No Raiding

The American Federation of Labor at its St. Louis convention, gave its enthusiastic approval to an unprecedented "no raiding" plan which would end competition for membership and jobs among the 110 AFL unions.

As a rider, the delegates also supported a move by AFL officials for a no raiding agreement with the CIO.

This action should win widespread support, for some pretty critical labor situations in the past have often resulted not from differences between labor and management over pay or working conditions, but from jurisdictional disputes.

It is good to see labor finally waking up to the necessity of peace within its ranks. Our hope now is that the local and affiliates pay heed to the action taken by their officials. Then and only then will we know that peace has come to the ranks of labor.

By Postponement

President Eisenhower's administration was roundly assailed by the Democrats, meeting in Chicago, for what Adlai Stevenson called "government by postponement."

When the Republicans have something to do, Mr. Stevenson said, they appoint a commission to study it.

There was only one issue before the Democratic assembly in Chicago—what to do about the "loyalty pledge" left over from the last Democratic convention.

The Democrats met it head-on—they appointed a committee to study it.

Air Traffic Density

"Free as the sky" may be relegated to the limbo of obsolete terms if tentative plans for the experimental control of air traffic density in metropolitan areas proves success.

The plan, to be tried out first in the Washington area, will feature special procedures to be followed faithfully by all pilots in the air over the national capital, including maintaining a speed limit of not more than 180 miles an hour.

There will be no aerial traffic cops to enforce this rule, but radar equipped control towers are expected to keep a close check on plane speeds.

Thus the world moves, with a new headache added to those already troubling the problems of the ground. It will be an interesting experiment.

Tea probably is mankind's favorite beverage. Even Americans, a nation of coffee drinkers, import more than 93 million pounds a year.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

No This Is Marriage

Matrimony, as a cherished ceremonial endorsed by millions with the sacredness of a sacrament, took a beating the other day. It proceeded the Marciano fight by a few hours and not even La Stazza took more punishment. Nobody involved possessed the sensibilities which would keep the event quiet and a little private. This one, in which the participants were a famous movie star and a singer, both giving the low punch to the "Till Death Do Us Part" pledge by a fourth quick marriage, was produced in a garish extravaganza, with a news account, the signals, music and TV cameras, grunting lecherous and theatrical agents, doctors, lawyers, columnists and lighting specialists constituting the supporting cast. The director of this clanking of slot machines and numbing of the crap tables in the immediate vicinity, directed a musical background supplemented by wind-blown cries of "They're off!" "What's good to the fifth?" and "Hey, gimme the late scratches." Oh, Romeo! Oh, Juliet!

In plenty of American homes a long-remembered picture will be that of two fifth children, one three and one fifth, daughters of the bride, well placed up in the photographic rig and looking on wonderingly at the dissection of what the Roman Catholic Church regards as a sacrament and at what the Protestant Church, too, regards as a deeply holy institution. Evidently it did not occur to the bride or groom, their counselors or their publicity agents that when Marciano is taking his fourth husband, himself a number-four boy, in a casino and on a ceremonial performed by a specialist in quick weddings, the kiddies might be better protected against wrong slants and ineradicable impressions. You never can tell.

These pseudo-marriages following the rash-order divorce and participated in by famous personalities who blithely make the pledges of undying love, only to mock them later, are nothing new. But this one was a lulu when it came down to elements and angles that really put the slug on the pledge to love and honor, to cherish in sickness and in health and to stick it out to the ultimate deathbed, even if it takes fortitude, faith and a little patience now and then.

It would be interesting to know what impression the small fry get from the ceremony. We trust "Who's Mommy" is trying today, and "What's Popper" swinging to this time, but become acceptable as routine inquiries by the kiddies of America in the foreseeable future. But it's possible. The two children in the Nevada photo are not the only ones who may get ideas. Millions of kids all over the country saw the picture and must be a little ticked up as they try to reconcile the shindig with the catechism, the Sunday School lessons, the admonitions of worried parents and the story-book ending "And so they were married and lived happily ever after."

Oh, well, there we go preaching. And Why? Why view with alarm? After all, nobody has introduced a wedding cake that can be spun like a wheel. The juke box that plays the wedding march and gives a jackpot to a lucky guest is yet to come. We are yet to see a wedding of notables in which a dice box is used instead of a ring. That's something ain't it?

Overheard at a race track: "Who's that fellow who shows up in that de luxe car every day and is always at the fifty-dollar window?" "I dunno; he must be a TROUBLE SHOOTER." The late Supreme Court Justice Vinson left two wills, neither of which is valid. "You can imagine how nervous this makes the average wife-maker!" "The first-night audience at John Patrick's new comedy, 'Teahouse of the August Moon,' in New Haven the other night made the rafters ring with cheers and we found nobody among the first-nighters who didn't think it would be a novelty sensation when it hits Broadway." "The story poles delightful fun at Uncle Sam's attempts to remodel the people of an Oklahoma village into the American pattern." "The resultant mafia brings from the top commandant, 'If I get out of this army as a private I'll be lucky.'"

Credit lines on video shows are getting so long that there is barely time left for the program. "Henry M. James is chairman of the New York Harness Racing Commission and we hear he feels that in some phases of trotting-track life it was Henry James versus Jesse." Twelve cannon balls were stolen from the base of a monument in North Carolina. "Somebody evidently decided on a queer way to annoy the people downstairs." "That case of the autoist who was reading a book while driving 70 miles an hour continues to intrigue us."

If he isn't careful he will be found in a ditch with his book on top of him and with the front-side piece pushed away back into the final chapter. "Tea and sympathy" is so full of dynamite that it could be retitled "TNT and Sympathy." Rita Hayworth and Dick Haymes have been married and there is nothing to the report that the groom was given away by the Immigration Authorities.

FALL MIGRATION?

Robert S. Allen Reports

Brownell To Investigate Relucant Probe Witnesses

Washington — Attorney General Herbert Brownell is getting set for a very busy winter. The Justice Department has concluded preparations on: (1) A major investigation in a new and controversial field. (2) An explosive legislative plan that will be submitted to Congress in January.

Measures aimed at giving the Justice Department a bigger role in the enforcement of tax laws involving illegal businesses. Brownell's proposed investigation is the first of its kind. He has directed a group of top Department attorneys to make an exhaustive probe of witnesses who decline to answer questions about Communist affiliation when appearing before grand juries and congressional investigating committees.

This inquiry will break new ground. Brownell has frankly told assistants he isn't sure where it will wind up. He explains his purpose as follows: "We are engaged in a careful study of those who decline to answer questions about Communist affiliations. Individuals who plead the protection of the Fifth Amendment seem to forget that those who assert privileges under the Constitution also have a duty to perform regarding this sacred document to protect it. It certainly is most incongruous for persons who seek to destroy the freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution to demand its protection in an effort to thwart the government's search for information and evidence to safeguard the nation. We intend to press for action in every possible field against those who are engaged in the 'great deception'."

Surprise Package — The Attorney General's legislative package for Congress consists of far-reaching moves against organized crime. Most of them are along the lines of the bills recommended several years ago by the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee, but later pigeonholed. However, Brownell and his assistants have dusted off those forgotten proposals and given them a "new look."

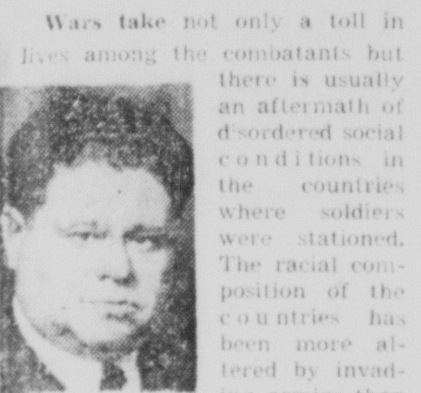

Gambling: A bill to block the transmission of gambling news and reports by outlawing the leaving of tickers and phones for this purpose. Also amendments to the "Anti-Slot Machine Act" which would not only prohibit the interstate shipment of these devices but make their possession and use illegal. Taxes: Make the failure to file tax returns or to keep the tax records required by law a felony instead of a misdemeanor, as at present, and extend the statute of limitations for tax violations from three to six years.

Political: Republican National Committee insiders are privately warning party leaders against being overly optimistic regarding the outcome of the turbulent New York mayoralty race. The GOP strategists feel the situation is not favorable to the Republican candidate. They have told President Eisenhower that at this point Tammany-backed Robert Wagner Jr. is in the lead. Virtually every important Democratic leader in California is urging George Kilgus, head of the American Presidents Steamship Line, to run for governor next year. Leading this back-slash drive to persuade the one-time newspaperman to become a candidate is Attorney General Pat Brown, who has been prominently mentioned as a possible gubernatorial aspirant. But Brown has urged Kilgus to throw his hat in the ring and has promised to support him for the nomination.

Fur jackets will be fashionable for dogs this fall. That's to make them look all peeped out.

George Sokolsky Says...

Children Fathered By Occupation Troops Present Complicated Problem For America

Wars take not only a toll in lives among the combatants but there is usually an aftermath of disordered social conditions in the countries where soldiers were stationed. The racial composition of the countries has been more altered by invading armies than those who believe in the purity of their ancestry are willing to admit. Italy has been affected by Hannibal's armies, the Slavs by the forces of Gustavus Adolphus, Western Europe by Americans in two wars.

The "cold war" has produced an impact upon European and Asiatic countries because of the long duration of the presence of American, French, British and Russian troops in other countries, introducing not only new customs and traditions but producing many illegitimate children. Invading and occupying soldiers serve to turn the country into a melting pot, the effectiveness of the mixing process depending upon numbers and duration. It is estimated that 100,000 children were born of Russian fathers in East Berlin and into this figure has somehow crept 467 children born of American Negro fathers. All these children, including those of American Negro fathers, are regarded as Russians and come under the educational processes by which the Kremlin is creating a Marxist world.

It is estimated that 29,000 illegitimate children have been fathered by Americans in Japan, 50,000 in the American zone in Germany, 70,000 in Great Britain. I do not know how absolutely accurate these round figures are but they are accepted by the authorities. Rep. Frances P. Bolton, in discussing this question before the House of Representatives, said: "I would like to urge you to join with me in thoughtful consideration of what we as Americans can and should do to give these thousands of youngsters a constructive childhood. After all, are they not a segment of America's participation in the future of the world?"

I do not know precisely what this has to do with America's participation in the future of the world, that future will inevitably be there anyhow. But this can be said: So many problems arise out of war and the most humane are often the least pressing. Illegitimate children appear in large numbers after every war and somehow their mothers manage to take care of them, but the community has a long memory of bestiality. One of the longest race memories of this nature arose from the wholesale rape of Chinese women by Western seamen on the China coast in the 1840's I heard of discussed nearly a century later in my days in China.

Surely the 100,000 American-fathered war babies in Japan can become an evil memory, a lasting impression upon a people who are race-conscious. Something can be done for those children. What I do not know. It is easier to say that something should be done than to offer an amateur's program. There must be experts in our country who would know how to handle problems of this nature to the best advantage of the United States as well as these children. They are morally our wards.

Those who are so sure that One World is possible do not always recognize the resistance not only to mixed marriages but to the progeny of such marriages among most peoples. In those countries in which racial homogeneity is identical with nationality, the role of the product of a mixed marriage (and illegitimacy makes it worse) is difficult indeed. Such a child may even be without nationality, particularly where the law determines nationality as descending from the father. If there is no father—no acknowledging father—what is the nationality of the child? This is often overlooked in most discussions of this subject, particularly among Asiatics.

In some countries, prejudice against Negroes or other pigmented peoples does not exist. But such a prejudice can develop out of mixed marriages, between natives and American Negroes and that could be worse in cases involving illegitimacy. It could in time become a situation of extreme ugliness and injustice, particularly when great services ceased to be acknowledged.

This is such a complicated matter, involving not only human life but prejudices and hates, that it should not be discussed emotionally. Certainly some agency of the American Government, perhaps Mrs. Ovetta Hobby's department, might research the entire problem and find a solution for it.

One of the most contagious diseases known to man is rampant in our country. Fortunately it affects the young not nearly so much as the aging, the disgruntled, the failures and the reformers. The name of the disease is PESSIMISM. I don't know what has gotten into us the last few years. We used to be a nation of optimists, a go-getting nation, a nation with a sense of humor that was the envy of all other countries.

But what are we today? Listen to our speakers. Read your "authorities" statements. Delinquency, sickness, accidents, graft, crime, vice and all the other evils that befall mankind—that's what they talk about. It certainly is a good thing that our newspapers still devote a lot of space to the crimes, the fashions, the cooking recipes. Otherwise they might as well put a black mourning border around their front pages.

I am afraid that all this gloom originates in the minds of New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and the few other giant metropolises where people live so close together that they have no room to stretch their minds, and where the buildings are so high that there is no space for the sun to penetrate.

A typical example of this sort of attitude is a critic's write-up about a show he didn't like. After panning the performance from A to Z, he ends his criticism with the sentence, "Touring is indicated."

In other words, this critic thinks that a thing may not be good enough for New York, but it is amply good enough for the country. The same paper prints an editorial on a speech a well known politician made the other day. "He talked like a small town politician," commented the writer.

What's wrong with the country? That's bad about being a "small town politician?" Of our thirty-four Presidents, only one, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City. All the others came from villages and comparatively small towns, at

New York—I see where Lucy Ball has been back in the headlines again, this time not for having a baby but for having registered Communist a long time ago to please her grandpappy, and what all this fuss does to me is to remind me of the time I stood up Lucy. There are not many American men who can make that statement, I dare say, or, conversely, many American men who would care to make that statement. How silly can you get?

However, I did it. I stood up the girl with the pink hair and the most beautiful legs in show business, barring, possibly K. Hepburn's. It happened only a few years ago at Twenty-One, and my only qualifying statement is that I stood the dame up after it looked as if she was going to stand me up.

This took place at a time before Lucy was the national feminine idol, owing to the mysteriousness of television, and when she was in New York to help plug some movie or other in which she appeared. Lucy was well along in her thirties at the time, although it was not immediately apparent to the naked eye, and a good guess would be that she could have used all the publicity she could have gotten. Moviegoers were not exactly breaking down the doors of the playhouses to see her films. Personally, I always thought she was beautiful and funny and you can't ask for more than that in any woman. You got a beautiful and a funny dame and any incidental haws she may have in her character are minor.

So it came I p. in the day of our little luncheon, and I appeared promptly at twenty-one, this is a lovely eating joint on 52nd street, publicized by the periodicals, and its only merit may be that there is a distinct difference between the greeting I received when I walk in there by myself and when I walk in there with someone, say, like M. Dietrich, girl guide. Being with Miss Dietrich helps.

Twenty-One has come a long way since its speakery days and I guess that the genial Kriender boy, who run it, no longer have to sweat too much about what the newspapermen say about them. In-places like Sardi's, I get a good deal of pleasant "So good to see you again" greetings, but at Twenty-One I am received non-committally. It may be that I just look unimpressive in the dimmer light at Twenty-One.

Anyway, here I was sitting in the lounge of the joint, wistfully eyeing the incoming parade of movie actors and socialites and columnists who get their world news firsthand at the bar inside—and no Lucy. To make it brief, Lucy did not appear for 20 minutes. That is 15 minutes more than I wait for most anyone, but I kept remembering those beautiful legs. Finally at the end of 20 minutes, my pride won out. I got up and stalked out. Truth compels me to say I did not leave chaos in my wake. The man at the door was making a fuss over somebody named Lauren Bacall.

Out on the sidewalk, I started to turn left toward Fifth Avenue—and at that moment a taxicab drew up in front of the saloon. Accompanied by a press agent, there emerged from the cab a girl with pink hair and legs you could not mistake anywhere.

For a moment only, I lingered uncertainly. Then, proud fool, I turned up my overcoat collar and walked off. Miss Lucille Ball passed behind my back into the confines of the chophouse for her rendezvous with disillusionment.

Punctuality being a great big thing with me, as they say in Lindy's, I must admit to having practiced this sort of thing before. Movie people especially seem to come late to interviews, which is kind of silly considering that they are coming with hat in hand to be interviewed, and I have given a number of them the back of my hand. Actresses I wait a maximum of 10 minutes for. Actors I give five. That seems reasonable, since I am a male and nine out of 10 movie actors are pretty foolish and dull souls, anyway.

It was only a few weeks ago that I had a lunch date with Miss Jeanne Crain, another pleasantly constructed individual for whom I would wait a little longer than usual. Well, Miss Jeanne was on time, but when I went to join her at this same Twenty-One, incidentally—I was taken aback to notice that everybody in the joint seemed to be at her table. It looked like an encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. There wasn't even a stray chair around for me to sit in, and when the captain of waiters said one, I said never mind.

"Tell Miss Crain I forgot I had a previous engagement with Rosie, the Central Park hippo," I said, and walked out. What's the use of having a lunch date with somebody like Jeanne Crain with six chaperones hanging on your every word? Well, anyway, here is Lucy Ball having a few difficulties and I feel sorry for her, but I bet if you ask her, she felt worse on that cold spring day a few years ago when she was stood up by the most attractive columnist in New York. If she tells you that the name Heimer doesn't ring a bell with her, you can be darned well sure she's covering up. No woman likes to be brushed off.

Paint Brush Should Have Best Of Care

By David G. Barentner
AP Real Estate Editor

Give your paint job the brush off with a lack of know-how about brushes and you'll wish you brushed up on this subject. You can dip the cat's tail into a can of shells, but undoubtedly you'll be the one to get the shellacking, not the surface you're working on.

The brush you use for each paint job, and how you use it, are as important as the quality of paint and sometimes more so. You can get a can of paint for a small job for a buck or two and ruin a brush that costs three or four times that much. Or you can use a cheap brush and ruin the job.

From experience, we can say that the only sensible use for a cheap little brush is to apply tree paint to a bulldozer seat, and for that a paddle is acceptable.

A good paint brush is one of the finest of tools. At the same time, it is one of the most complicated to handle. To get the best results, you can use a brush only for the jobs for which it is made—a flat brush for flat surfaces, a round or oval brush for round surfaces, a narrow brush for small surfaces and tight places. And it's up to you to take care of your brushes.

A good painter, one worthy of being called a decorator, one who works in homes where woodwork is treated like furniture, will use an old brush for the first and second coats and a new brush for the finish coat. But that new brush will not be the way it came out of the store. It will be cured and possibly broken in.

All new brushes are bound to have a few loose bristles. You can bring these out in two ways. First, twist the handle rapidly between your hands. Second, after preparing the brush by an oil soak, paint a dozen strokes or so across a rough surface. This trial course will bring out any loose hairs that didn't show up in the dry run.

The oil bath is very important to a new brush. It will lengthen the life of the brush, make it easier to clean and improve its working qualities by preventing the porous bristles from absorbing harmful pigment particles or thinners.

Here's how to give a new paint brush its christening in oil. This is a method recommended by the Paint and Varnish Brush Division of the American Brush Manufacturers Association. It is prescribed for bristle brushes as well as those of bristle and synthetic fiber mixtures.

Take a piece of heavy wrapping paper about five times the width of the brush and twice the length of the bristles plus the metal or leather ferrule. Fold the paper around the width of the brush. Then fold the paper from the edge of the ferrule back to the top of the ferrule, being careful not to bend the bristles. Cellulose tape will hold the ends of the wrapper together.

Hang the wrapped brush in a container of raw linseed oil, supporting the handle to keep the brush upright. The oil should be deep enough to cover the wrapper and flow into it, so the full length of the bristle will be soaked.

The brush is left in this bath for 24 hours. But the longer it stays in the oil, the better.

Since washing is only part of a bath, this baby requires a rub down. Stretch a wire across the top of the can and draw the flat side of the bristles against it to remove the oil. Or hold the brush on a clean flat surface and squeeze the oil out with a round stick or screw driver.

Another trial is now in order. Hold the brush in a clean empty can and give it a spin between the hands to throw off remaining oil. Toss the brush in turpentine, dipping it several times. A third trial will remove the turp.

When you are sure the bristles are dry, comb them and smooth them into their original shape with a steel comb.

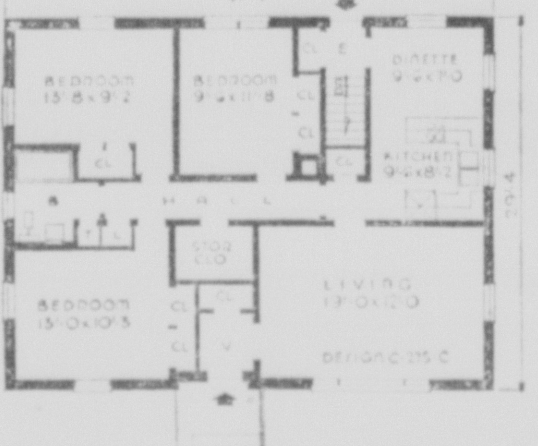

Now you have a brush that will stay flexible and give you faster and smoother spreading of paint. But try it out on that rough surface for any remaining loose bristles.

Seal Floor Gaps

Floors shrink when the heat comes on, providing a good chance to seal gaps. Clean out the cracks with a knife and fill them with a paste mixture of sawdust, shellac, whitening and color.

Easy To Build Feed Trough Keeps Chickens Egg-Happy

Poultry farmers say the way to keep a hen egg-happy is to give her elbow room at the feed trough. Experienced chicken raisers figure that every 100 hens should have not less than 30 or 32 feet of space at the feeder.

New Glamour For Old Sink

An old kitchen sink can be modernized by encasing it in a smart folding cabinet. This can be accomplished by modifying present equipment or building a new cabinet around the sink.

The easiest method is to build the cabinet in two parts. The base, equipped with folding drain boards, hides unsightly plumbing and provides storage space under the sink. A sample cupboard on top encloses faucets and gives extra shelf space.

When not in use, the streamlined sink-cabinet closes up completely to add a ship-shape appearance to the kitchen.

Six Ways To Cut Home Fuel Costs

Minneapolis. A 6-point guide for fuel conservation has been compiled by Arnold Michelson, vice-president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., who says it can make possible savings up to 50 per cent.

With cold weather ahead, Michelson advises:

1. Prevent overheating. Keep daytime temperature to an even 68 degrees, night 50 degrees.
2. Turn off heat in unoccupied rooms.
3. Install storm windows around doors and windows.
4. Do not waste hot water.
5. Replace missing boiler or furnace insulation. Insulate hot water heater.
6. Call your heating dealer for a complete check-up before cold weather arrives.

Dusty Cement Floor

If your concrete floor "dusts," wet it down with a solution of three pounds of zinc sulphate to a gallon of water. Pour on and work well into the concrete, let dry and then brush clean. This treatment will bind together loose particles and make the surface hard again.

Move To Your New Home With Safety

By Vivian Brown
AP Writer

You can even pack your troubles on moving day and go away smiling.

All you need is a system, advises the American Society of Interior Design.

You'll line up barrels, cartons, corrugated board, brown paper and tags in advance, and long before that big day arrives you'll weed out junk and discard it once and for all.

Send to the cleaners rugs, blankets, curtain and clothing that are soiled and arrange to have them delivered to your new home after moving day.

Packing should be started a week before you move, according to these experts. They suggest marking each piece of furniture with a special color tag, representing the room the piece comes from. Then the movers will know exactly where the furniture goes when they arrive at the destination.

If chests and desk contents are too heavy, drawers will need to be emptied out into boxes. Otherwise simply seal the drawers with heavy masking tape.

Fragile pieces need special handling. Place about four inches of crumpled newspapers in the bottom of a barrel. Wrap china and glass with heavy newspapers or wrapping paper, placing the heaviest objects in the center of the barrel.

Plates may be wrapped in groups of four to six, and set on edge around the sides of the barrel. Cups, glasses and stemware should be stuffed, covered with tissue paper and may fill in remaining space. Add additional newspapers for compactness, and mark a big "fragile" sign on top of it.

Wrap mirrors and pictures in quilts and blankets and tie firmly. Cosmetic jars and perfume bottles may be protected against leakage by sealing corks and stoppers with natural color nail polish, paraffin or tape. Wrap and pack these items in a hamper, along with the contents of the medicine cabinet.

Small rugs may be rolled up inside large ones. Clothing may be put in portable clothes closets supplied by the moving man.

At least one suitcase should be packed with personal clothing, tissues, towels, toiletries and nightclothes for each member of the family, so that the first night at the new home will not be a night-

Radiators Do Double Duty

Steam and hot-water radiators can be dressed up and camouflaged to serve other purposes unobtrusively.

A simple way is to cover the radiator with a drop-leaf table that any cabinet maker or handyman can build. A solid piece behind the radiator fastens to the wall, supporting the cover which serves as a shelf.

Two triangular pieces of wood, hinged laterally, support the table in an upright position. Make sure both pieces are trued up to give support at two points.

The table is hinged to fold out of the way when not needed. When raised, it serves as work space in the kitchen, as a play table or lamp shelf in other rooms.

Window Shutters Give Home Touch

Although window shutters originally served to give protection against the weather, their chief function now is to add color and architectural beauty to your home.

The roof color is the key color in exterior design and the shutters should be painted to blend or contrast with the roof. If the roof is covered with green shingles, a matching green or a harmonizing unadorned would be a pleasing color for the shutters.

When the shingles are in blended mixtures of two or more colors, shutters which match one, of the light weight mineral (vermiculite) mat. Another suitcase may contain personal papers, jewelry and other valuables and this should be carried to the new home by hand.

Outside Shutters Used On Inside

Many housewives are having discarded outside shutters hinged for inside use. The slatted shutters blend in with the popular Venetian blinds and when painted to match the woodwork of the room are a decided addition, besides their use in shielding from drafts and at the same time allowing some air to come through the slats.

Nails Don't Chip Insulating Plaster

A new insulating plaster has been developed which, it is said, can be nailed into without chipping the surface and spreading cracks. The plaster is said to be mixed in the same manner as ordinary brittle-hard plaster, except that a is used instead of sand.

GHOST WRITERS in the SKY

IF YOU EVER HAVE seen high-flying aircraft leave behind them white, fleecy trails that resemble streamers of smoke, then you have seen an interesting phenomenon that may help sound the first alarm in case any enemy planes should ever attack the United States. These streamers are called condensation trails, or contrails for short. The contrail comes from water vapor in the exhaust of an aircraft engine. When the air becomes saturated with water vapor, water droplets will form and freeze. Excess water vapor will adhere to the ice particles and the resulting concentration of ice crystals forms the contrail. Both jet and piston aircraft leave these contrails. How do these contrails figure in our air defense plans? Well, should enemy aircraft penetrate our borders, then ground observers might notice these contrails and set off our warning system. Contrails provide these two important benefits: (a) they permit detection of aircraft flying so high that they might not be heard or seen and (b) they make possible a very accurate determination of the direction of plane's flight.

Stratofreighter leaves trails because engines are working hard, but bomber's are loafing.

Fighters covering a bomber formation leave trails as the wing tips shock air during turns.

Sometimes ghostly trails stretch out for miles. Other times they dissipate in a few feet.

Gap Correspondent Finds Visiting School Is Like Stepping Into World Of Sunshine

By N. E. Bird
Delaware Water Gap — "Good afternoon. Will you come in, please."

A courteous little lady had answered the visitor's tap on the schoolroom door.

Then a gracious child stepped forward. "May I take your coat? No? Will you have a chair, please?"

Then Mrs. Paul Morton, teacher of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the Water Gap public school, came to answer questions about the room. To hear that there are 21 pupils in it sounded like an easy task for her until the daily schedule was scanned.

She has four classes each in reading, spelling, arithmetic, and English, plus penmanship once a week and a 15-minute assembly period each morning. The day begins with a 15-minute assembly period until 9 a.m.

In the afternoon come the social studies; four classes each in geography, history, hygiene; also art twice a week; library period once a week; music; 15 minute recess each afternoon. The recitation time is at least half an hour and often an hour.

Mrs. Morton is enthusiastic about the Unit System of education. In this the studies have a central subject for study whether it be in geography, history, reading or writing. This year the fifth and sixth grades are stressing study of their own United States.

Already on the bulletin board are some interesting free-hand crayon drawings of Indians and topees done by the children. Mrs. Morton has ten boys and eleven girls; eight pupils in the 3rd grade; eight in the 4th; three in the 5th and two in the 6th.

In the large, light upstairs school room, Mrs. Lillian Marshall has 27 pupils in the first and second grades; 13 in one, and 14 in the other. She has 15 boys and 12 girls. The room and work are so attractive, she has to insist on some of the children going home when the day is over.

This year they have new blocks with which to work, several new reading helps, and colorful alphabet charts on the wall. Her schedule, too, shows that every minute has to be well utilized. In the morning, she has three different groups from the second grade for reading and two groups for the first grade. After 11:15 the time is spent on spelling for the second grade.

In the afternoon come penmanship, numbers, art, music and two afternoons a week, story hour. Conversation time gives each child an opportunity to stand up front and recount any interesting happening he or she wishes to share. Mrs. Marshall pointed out the neat work done by beginners in their color-books; none of the colors going outside the lines.

She showed the legible "O's" and "G's" made by beginners. She feels she has an exceptional group. She also feels that the children have an exceptional opportunity for individual supervision in this smaller school. Mrs. Marshall teaches all the music periods in both rooms.

Asked whether she wished to have callers during school hours, she expressed eagerness for parents and friends to visit both school rooms to see what the future citizens of Water Gap are doing and learning. She feels that the morning hours are the best ones for callers, though they are welcome any time.

By that time, recess was over and there were no lagging feet as the 27 boys and girls climbed the stairs to their school room. Eager faces showed what they, themselves think of their school. A visit there is like stepping into a world of sunshine.

You certainly tidied up nicely after installing the telephone. You've left no trace of your work—no sawdust, no little pieces of wire.

Thank you, Mrs. Snyder.

I must say you're a good workman.

That's part of my job. We try to plan our work to have very little of anything left over.

Mr. Snyder's like that. He has a workshop in the basement. Before he starts the least little job on his lathe, he lays out the whole thing very carefully.

Planning like that saves money, Mrs. Snyder. The more economical I am in the use of telephone material, the less the Company has to buy.

I can understand that.

Maybe you read a few months ago that we'd installed the three millionth telephone in Pennsylvania? If we installers have saved no more than a penny on each telephone, that would be a lot of money.

Just think, that would amount to about thirty thousand dollars.

You're right, Mrs. Snyder, and that's a lot of money. By keeping costs under control, telephone men and women help keep telephone service always a bargain.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

News seems to come in waves — but in this time of equinoctial storms the cresting wave of PTA meetings meets the swelling wave of Federated Women's club meetings head on, and the social page gets submerged.

Actually the weather was too fine yesterday to get too perturbed about anything. The benches along the main streets were filled with people taking the sun, the jury took its time strolling back from lunch, the men lingering on the corner taking long after-sun-down.

And speaking of sundown, the glow of the sunset makes the street lights seem green when they're first turned on.

And I felt like turning green myself, with envy, as a whole series of telephone calls in the afternoon resulted only in the information that the women I was calling were all out playing golf.

Somehow you have a finger-crossed attitude toward the weather, a feeling that we'd better make the best of it while it lasts.

So the stuff that was dumped out of bureau drawers, preparatory to fall housecleaning, gets stuffed back in, bathing suits and all. The windows you started to wash can stay dirty because nobody's inside looking out anyway.

Listen to Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

Hamilton PTA Tours New School

Bartonsville — The first meeting of the Hamilton Township Parent Teachers Association for the 1953-54 term was held Monday night, in the new Scotia Elementary School. Although it had been planned to have a mass tour, conducted by Principal Henry Fenner at the close of the meeting, the parents were so eager to see the modern facilities of the new school that nearly everyone went through the building before the meeting even began.

President Verdon Frailey presided at the meeting when they discussed what PTA could contribute to the hot lunch program. Reports on state requirements for dishwashing and how they can be met, by Dutch Haney; the information that the lunch program will be in the hands of the school board, by Mrs. Albert Nelson; School director, Mrs. Corona Keiser's discussion of the state-approved, balanced menus that would be prepared by paid cooks and offered to the children at $1 per week were given. State subsidy of about fifty cents per week per child provides additional nutritional value was reported.

Frailey appointed a committee to purchase, various necessary dishes and cooking items now being offered at special sales. These will be presented to the school as gifts from the PTA. Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. Raymond Van Why, Mrs. Elmer Albert, Mrs. Andrew Keiser were named.

Mrs. Mildred Cyphers was appointed to the position of secretary upon the resignation of Mrs. John Cummings, who is moving away for the winter.

A new program committee was appointed upon the resignation of Mrs. Elmer Veety who handled programs the past several years. Mrs. Walter Young will head that group, which includes William Lesh, Mrs. Bradley Randall and Mrs. Oscar Kirkhuff.

The annual membership drive will be conducted from October 26, date of the next regular meeting, until November 15, and will be in charge of the teachers, headed by Fenner.

It was decided to canvass for donations towards the extra gas heater and pans for the kitchen, and to try to locate a good piano for the auditorium to replace the one which has been declared not worth tuning. In charge of fund-raising will be Mrs. Elmer Albert, Mrs. William Fetherman, Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. Raymond Van Why, Mrs. John Haney.

Commencement insurance will be available on a policy from the school board in October and each pupil is to carry home a mimeographed note of explanation of the benefits offered.

Haney said that two drinking fountains are on hand and will be installed shortly. Mr. Fenner said they planned to expand and stagger the lunch period as the need arises.

Attendance was at a record level of nearly 100, including School Directors Alfred Kresge, Dutch Haney, Mrs. Corona Keiser and Thomas Rodgers; teachers, Calvin Smith, Mrs. Elmer Gray, Miss Helen Kirkhuff, Mrs. Mary Shiffer, who won the attendance prize of a $2 check.

John Mackes, Mrs. Lucy Warner, Mrs. Ethel Rinker, Mrs. Mildred Cyphers and Henry Fenner, principal.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"I'll tell you something you can write about," said Laura Fabel as I stopped in her department yesterday afternoon. "You can write about the new shipment of pigskin gloves that just arrived."

From a nearby display, she whisked a handsome oatmeal colored gauntlet, with brown stitching. Attached to the front was a hump backed piglet cut from a piece of heavy gift paper, which proudly bore the trademark of the manufacturer—Spear.

"I wonder if they did?" I asked facetiously. "Spear him, I mean."

"Not this one," Laura explained. "This one was shot."

Sylvia Strunk grinned and winked. "And that's why these are holes in the hide didn't you know?"

Laura ignored our foolishness. "Those little holes appear in groups of three in a genuine pigskin," she said, "and show where the hide has been shaved. The bristles apparently grow in tufts. Sometimes if you hold a glove to the light you can see through them—sometimes not, but in any case those holes are what make your glove so desirable. They allow your skin a chance to breathe, and keep you comfortable."

Flipping the top of the glove backward, Laura showed us the words "Genuine Pecary Pig" printed inside. A Pecary pig, she explained is a special kind raised in South America along the banks of the Amazon. These animals have tusks, arched backs, and are extremely vicious... what is more, the collecting of their hides is far from child's play. When the pigs are shot, they immediately run for the water if possible. Once in the river, they are worthless, for so many bugs and creatures prey upon them instantly, that the hide is not worth recovering. In view of all this, Pecary pigskin is precious — and, as one salesman explained to Laura, no one should complain at paying in the neighborhood of $10 for a pair of gloves. Fortunately, for local shoppers, however, these now in stock are selling for $3.95 and $4.50.

Washable or dry cleanable, as you prefer, these soft, rich looking accessories are offered in white, black, brown, cork, and the previously mentioned oatmeal.

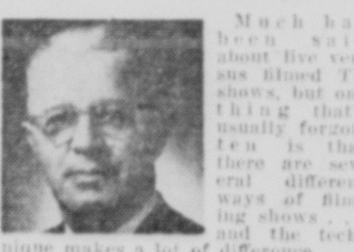

In the course of our conversation, our Miss Fabel confided that just last week she celebrated her 36th anniversary with Wyckoff's. Twenty of those years have been devoted to hosiery and gloves, and she loves 'em. In fact, it was her interest in gloves that led her years ago to wander round a zoo until she found a Pecary pig.

If it hadn't been for that incident, this column might never have been written. Amazing, isn't it, how one thing leads to another? And had we never heard Laura's story, you and I might have gone through life without mention of Pecary pigs. Or, if mentioned, we might have thought them just pigs who live Pecariously!

TV NEWS

By HAROLD KNIPE

much has been said about the new method of filming TV news, but one thing that's usually forgotten is that there are several different ways of filming news, and the technique makes a lot of difference.

The usual method employs only one camera, "Bregnet," "Life of Riley," "My Little Margie," and many other filmed shows use this method. Individual scenes are shot and pieced together, like a movie. The second method is a multiple camera with audience system. The "Gloria Marx show," "I Love Lucy," "Our Miss Brooks," and others use this technique. It has the advantage of live audience reaction. A third method is used for some of the new Jack Benny shows, the "Dean Davis show," "Burns and Allen," and others. It uses three cameras with no audience, allowing more freedom in shooting. Often laughter is applied in on these shows, or the film is shown to an audience and its reaction is recorded.

So when you start arguing about live and filmed TV shows, you really have to state what kind of filmed show you mean. One thing is sure: If the show is good, the audience will like it no matter how it's made. The quality of the show is what counts in the end. But if you set out to give the audience a picture, you're not getting what you paid for. So make needed repairs promptly, and be sure you can call the qualified technicians at KNIPPE TELEVISION & RADIO SERVICE, 18 N. Sixth St. Phone 3282-J.

Baltimore Finally Wins Battle For St. Louis Franchise

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore probably was the happiest man in New York. He spearheaded the two-year fight to bring the team to his city. While talking to newsmen outside the meeting room D'Alesandro caught sight of Webb and, with a big grin, addressed the Yank bigwig:

"Mr. Webb, I promise you when the Yankees come to Baltimore we'll have a record crowd out to see them. But I must warn you that we're out to break your monopoly on winning pennants. We're going to be in the World Series in 1954."

Then, turning to the assembled newsmen, he said:

"This is a great day for Baltimore and the big leagues. We have been fighting a long time, since 1950, in fact, and it was worth it. We fought hard, but we fought clean. I want to thank all my friends who supported me and helped bring it about."

It had been a heartbreaking battle D'Alesandro waged. Last spring he thought the Browns would wind up in Baltimore but the club owners made them stay in St. Louis. Then, only Sunday night, he again was rebuffed when the owners, in the first of the meetings to settle the Brown situation, refused to vote the club to Baltimore.

It was an open secret that the choice had narrowed down to Baltimore and Los Angeles when the owners filed into their meeting room. But after Baltimore had been turned down once, most observers thought Los Angeles had the inside track.

But the tide changed when D'Alesandro popped outside the room when the meeting was about halfway over and told the reporters that he was much encouraged.

As for Veck, the ex-Marine and center of many a controversy and feud with his fellow owners, he came out of the conference looking weary. He was in on the discussions from the start.

"This is the best solution in the world," he sighed. "The Browns obviously were in poor shape. Baltimore, on the other hand, is in fine financial shape."

"I am out of it entirely. I am no longer in baseball, but like a had penny I keep turning up and I am hopeful. Being out does have its regrets, but for the first time in a long time I have peace of mind. My immediate plans are to see the World Series and send some of my ill-gotten loot—which isn't very much," he grinned.

The Miles syndicate paid in the neighborhood of $12 a share for the team which includes some 200 minor league players along with the 28 who finished up the present campaign with the Browns.

Miles, however, left the door open for Veck to join the new owners in some capacity.

"I have the greatest admiration for him," he said, "I have not even had a chance to talk over a job with him. After all, 45 minutes ago we were on the ropes. We have a ball club and we don't know what we're going to do with it."

Asked what was going to happen to Marty Marion, the Browns' manager, Miles answered:

"I really don't know."

Miles, who will be chairman of the board of the new team, said the name would remain the Baltimore Orioles.

"We are in complete agreement with Jack Dunn owner of the present Orioles as to purchase price and all other costs in Baltimore," he added. "However, we have not talked to Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, as to eventual damages payable to the league."

Shaughnessy could not be reached for comment immediately, but with Baltimore now out of the triple "A" loop, there was talk that it probably would operate as a six-team league next year by dropping Springfield which has not been drawing.

Baltimore has been in organized baseball since 1871 and was the last club to lose its franchise in the American League—50 years ago. The Yanks took over the franchise.

It also was only the third franchise switch in the majors since 1900. The other two involved the Boston Braves being switched to Milwaukee last spring and Milwaukee being transferred to St. Louis in 1902.

For the first time in half a century, St. Louis now will be represented by only one club.

Illness, Injuries Hit Bangor High Football Organization

All But One To Be Ready For Cavaliers

Bangor—Illness and injuries have raised havoc with the Bangor High school football team this week, as the Slaters prepare for Friday night's battle with East Stroudsburg High school, on the latter's home field.

Even Coach Granville Evans has been on the sick list this week, with what he termed "virus" last night. Evans was unable to attend school yesterday, but as of last night was hoping to be back on the job today.

The Bangor coach announced that two of his backfield stalwarts, Rodney Miller and Mike DeVito, were down with the virus over the weekend. Evans said that Miller lost 10 pounds and DeVito five, although both were rapidly regaining the weight.

Police Confiscate World Series Tickets After Reports Of Excessive Prices Being Charged

New York (AP)—Police raided a Manhattan ticket agency and confiscated 141 World Series tickets yesterday on complaints that excessive prices were being charged.

Three men were taken into custody at the Embassy Theater Ticket Agency, 234 W. 50th St. Plainclothesmen said they paid $120 in marked money for six Ebbets Field tickets with a total value of $42. Brokers are allowed to charge one dollar more than a ticket's face value.

The police said the agency also quoted a price of $150 for four box seat tickets, which have a face value of $10 each.

The police said the complaints came chiefly from New York business firms, which protested they were being squeezed for exorbitant prices for tickets for out of town customers.

Phillies To Make Changes In Roster

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies "Fitz Kids of '53" are headed for a shakedown, with indications pointing to a gradual youth movement designed to produce another "Whiz Kids" team like the one which won the National League pennant in 1950.

All sorts of speculation has been kicked around in baseball circles regarding the club's future after a disappointing finish in a third place tie.

Out of it these facts and statements stand out:

Owner Bob Carpenter has said there's going to be a shakeup. He's in New York right now to attend the World Series, try and sign a bonus first baseman, Frank Leja of Holyoke, Mass., and to make contacts which later this year he hopes will result in some trades.

Local Players With Injuries To See Action This Weekend

East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg High schools received good news from their respective football camps yesterday, when it was learned that both grid machines would probably be at full strength for weekend league battles.

Mike Palmisano, who suffered what appeared to be a serious back injury at Pen Argyl last Saturday, took part in a light workout with the Cavaliers yesterday and reportedly felt much better. Palmisano is a first string guard.

Don Herman, who also suffered a back injury at Pen Argyl, also worked out lightly with the Cavaliers yesterday. Herman, an end, and Palmisano are expected to be ready for the Bangor game, at Memorial Stadium, on Friday night.

Saxton Scores Verdict Over Giardello

By Ralph Bernstein

Philadelphia (AP)—Johnny Saxton, a fast moving, swift punching, clever New York welterweight, pounded out a unanimous 10 round decision over middleweight Joey Giardello of Philadelphia last night in the first indoor bout of the season at the Arena. Saxton weighed 151 and Giardello 155.

Saxton opened cuts under both of Giardello's eyes in winning the nod of Judge Billy Yancey, 5-3-2; Judge Herb Goldman, on the unusual count of 3-1-6; and Referee Joe Sweeney, 5-4-1. The Associated Press carded Saxton, an aggressive winner, 5-3-2.

Rally

Giardello, who seeks a fight with the winner of the Bobo Olson-Randy Turpin middleweight title bout, appeared lead-footed and out of condition. The swarthy Philadelphia fighter tossed a lot of leather in the first three rounds, all of which he appeared to have won. But from that point on, Saxton took complete charge of the fight.

Baltimore Thrilled By News

Baltimore (AP)—"It's the greatest thing since the armistice," said a Baltimore bartender last night. "And that pretty well summed up this city's reaction to news that major league baseball is returning here after an absence of 50 years. There wasn't any dancing in the streets or wild celebration. But everybody wore a big grin and you could hear them yelling to one another:

Excitement

"Hey, boy, how 'bout that? We're in the majors!"

"Yeah . . . we got the Colts (pro football) and now the Browns (pro baseball). We're really going places!"

The New York Yankees, who were damned up one side and down the other Monday after it had been learned co-owner Del Webb of the Yankees was fighting against shifting the Browns here, even stood a good chance of getting some support in their World Series fight against the Dodgers.

"After all, we're in the same league now," one fan observed soberly.

Major league baseball is returning to a city with one of the longest and most colorful pasts in the diamond sport.

American League approval yesterday of the St. Louis Browns' transfer here brings them to a town where professional baseball history dates back to 1871.

Bratton Tangles With Wilson

Baltimore (AP)—With the prospect of a wide open scramble for the welterweight championship eggging them on, Johnny Bratton and Al Wilson will punch it out in a scheduled 10-rounder in the Coliseum tonight.

Hint

The hint that "Kid" Gavilan may relinquish the title because of difficulty in making the 147-pound limit any longer should be an added incentive to both Bratton and Wilson in their nationally televised (CBS) bout.

Britain Believes It Can Capture Ryder Cup

Virginia Water, England, (AP)—Golf-wise British galleries and writers watched and studied American Ryder Cup players during a practice session yesterday and predicted: "This time we can win."

Great Britain won her last Ryder Cup 20 years ago. Since then, as each cup series approached, American teams were obviously so superior that few of these ever-optimistic Britons honestly expected victory. An American breeze was just about a foregone conclusion.

Different

But the situation looks different starting Friday with 36-hole four-some matches.

Lloyd Mangrum's American team still is the favorite but by a much less margin.

"It's not that we don't like the looks of the Yanks this year," a

Ring Officials To Meet With TV

Washington, (AP)—Boxing officials yesterday arranged a meeting with television executives in an effort to find "ways and means for boxing to continue to live with TV."

Date

Col. Harvey L. Miller, executive secretary of the National Boxing Association, said the meeting will be held in New York October 20.

It was called, he said, because "NBA records indicate that, due to the terrific financial impact of TV on boxing, some commissions are flat broke, others are nearly so and are getting by on income from wrestling or state appropriations."

The men come a-flockin' round Lily Belle Brown

That sweet Southern darlin' who's just moved to town—

Her accent is fetchin', her eyes starry blue; She thoroughly ices the Ballantine, too.

"Lily Belle," her Mamma has emphatically told, "The popular hostess serves beer really cold!"

"Yes indeed, North and South, winter and summer, folks like their beer good and cold!"

Ballantine Beer is specially brewed . . . deep-brewed . . . to meet the "icebox test." The fine, full flavor of the world's choicest grains and hops is brewed so deep in this beer that chill can't kill it. Every glass just brims with flavor!

Beer is usually served at temperatures ranging from 32° to 42° Fahrenheit.

Fan In Lather Over Wager

Baltimore, (AP)—The man most excited by the transfer of the St. Louis Browns here yesterday probably was a fellow being shaved by barber Joe Pecora.

He had told the barber he had a 15-1 bet the transfer would be approved.

Quick Exit

Pecora said when the news was flashed over the barbershop radio, the man jumped up and ran—still lathered and with a cloth around his neck—to collect his bet.

"He hasn't come back yet," said Pecora.

To Be Discharged

Herbert Krasley, Emmaus back who suffered a head injury in Friday's football game against Stroudsburg High, at Gordon Giffels field, will probably be discharged from the Monroe County Hospital today, it was learned last night.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Yankee Stadium opens its gates for its fifth straight World Series today, a fact that has become almost monotonous, but still so popular that each game will be played before a standing room only crowd. The Dodgers apparently have one of their best balanced teams in history, but this scribe is forced to string along with the experts who have made the Yankees a slight favorite to capture their fifth straight post-season title and break a record they set under Joe McCarthy, who did the bossing in the pre-Stengel era. This column likes the Bronx Bombers in six games.

The final choice narrows down to the pitching staffs of the respective rivals who are common foes in the 15-cent series. The Yankees appear to have the edge on the strength of their "Big Three," the ageless trio of chuckers who each year win the big games for the Stengelmans. The Dodgers don't appear to have any flingers that can cope with Allie Reynolds, Eddie Lopat and Vic Raschi. Eddie Erskine, Brooklyn's only 20-game winner, is the strong man of the Ebbets Field staff, but appears to have little help, except maybe from the veteran "Preacher" Roe.

Billy Loes and Russ Meyer, the latter a temperamental right hander, may come through for the Dodgers. Johnny Podres may also help, but each is a question mark. The Bums have Joe Black in the bullpen, but as everyone knows he isn't the same right handed chucker who did such a fine job against the Yankees last year. On the other hand the Yankees have Bob Kuzava, one of the best left season pitchers in the business; the veteran Johnny Stein, youthful Tom Gorman and any one of two or three others that can step into the picture and do a fine job. The series could very easily develop into a contest of home run balls, served up for the most part by Roe and Stein.

Roy Campanella rates the edge over Larry "Yogi" Berra in the catching department, although Berra is the type of hitter that can break up a ball game without a second's notice. But, if Campanella and Berra should be forced out of the series by injuries, Charley Silvera must rate the edge over Brooklyn's "Tuba" Waller. The rival first basemen are a toss up, both fighting to make up for their sorry showing in the series last fall. Gil Hodges set a record of going hitless through a seven-game series, but Gil has enjoyed a great season this year and is almost certain to be one of the series stars. Joe Collins also made a horrible showing against the Dodgers last year, but he's too good a ball player to have two successive poor World Series.

The second base post is another toss up. Jim "Junior" Gilliam has put new dash and fire into the Dodgers. He can hit, field, run and do anything expected of a good major league player. Billy Martin is a "money performer." He plays his best when the big chips are down. Billy has been hitting a longer ball and more often of late and his fielding is plenty good enough to make him one of the possible series stars.

The shortstop positions will be manned by two of the finest veterans in the business, namely Harold "Pee Wee" Reese for the Dodgers and Phil Rizzuto for the Yanks. Brooklyn enjoys a slight edge in this department at the present time. Phil, the older of the two, is a step slower in the field and Reese is the stronger of the two at the plate. If Rizzuto, who no longer is a well man, is forced from any of the games, Reese will have to surrender the fielding laurels to Willie Miranda, one of the best glove men in the major leagues today.

Third base is another toss up. Billy Cox holds a wide margin in the field, but Gil McDougald is the more dangerous hitter, although Cox held a .291-.285 edge in this department during the regular season. McDougald hits the longer ball and is the man more apt to drive important runs across the plate. The Yankees enjoy an edge in the outfield, and this could very easily be the major factor in a fifth straight World Series victory.

In left field even a slightly injured Gene Woodling must rate the defensive edge over Jackie Robinson, who recently made the shift from the infield. Robinson may hold an edge over Woodling at the plate, only because of Gene's hand injury, but if this scribe wanted a man at bat in the pinch the choice would be Woodling. Gene probably isn't injured as badly as the headlines would have us believe. The Yankees have a habit of exaggerating their ill luck. Center field will be manned by two of the best in the business, Mickey Mantle and "Duke" Snider. Both hit the long ball and each can drag 'em down in the outfield.

Carl Furillo, despite his championship batting average of .344 must play second fiddle to "Hank" Bauer, who is sound of limb in right field. Carl can't be at his best with a fractured finger that hasn't had time to mend correctly, although Furillo is one of the best outfielders in the major leagues.

Eastburg National Bank Honored In Little League

Marines Give Trophy At Loop Banquet

Marshall's Creek — East Stroudsburg Little League brought down the curtain on a successful 1953 baseball season last night with a banquet here at the Mountain Lake House, at which 138 people were in attendance.

C. A. "Phiz" Nauman, president of the circuit, acted as master of ceremonies and carried out a fast moving program that met with the approval of youngsters and adults alike.

Bob Logan presented a show of magic at the Mountain Lake House pavilion, which was followed by a movie on batting by Ted Williams.

Following the turkey dinner Nauman introduced Mrs. Joseph Steele, president of the ladies' auxiliary, who in turn presented Mrs. Stella Plattenburgh, vice president, and Mrs. Kathryn Fish, treasurer. Mrs. Elaine Boushell, secretary, was unable to attend because of illness.

Others

Nauman also introduced Paul Delaria, chairman of the finance committee; George Metropoulos, representing the Stroudsburg Little League; Paul Lloyd, secretary; Frank Laise, commissioner of umpires; Cliff Lambert, league treasurer, and Jim Riley, sports editor of The Daily Record.

All umpires and managers in the circuit were also introduced and took bows to the cheers from the large gathering of youngsters.

Bob Shaw, commandant of the local Marine Corps League, presented the championship trophy to the East Stroudsburg National Bank, the club that finished in first place this season, on behalf of the local Marine organization. Lambert received the trophy in behalf of his team.

Horace Walters, vice president of the East Stroudsburg School Board, delivered the invocation and a turkey dinner followed.

Former Hurler For Braves Dies

Lowell, Mass. (AP) — George A. "Lefty" Tyler, 63, one of the three pitching mainstays of the "Miracle Braves" of 1914, died unexpectedly yesterday at his home. He had been a shoe cutter for many years and most recently was employed in a Haverhill factory.

Two Clubs

A native of Derry, N. H., Tyler pitched for the Braves, then Boston's National League representative, from 1910 through 1917 and for the Chicago Cubs 1918-1921. He had a lifetime pitching record of 124 victories and 81 losses.

Yankees Open Bid For Fifth Straight World Series Title

New York (AP) — Allie Reynolds opens the proud New York Yankees' bid for an unprecedented fifth straight world championship today at Yankee Stadium against Carl Erskine, 29-game winning ace of the fence-busting Brooklyn Dodgers.

Despite the Dodgers' gaudy batting averages and their 208 home runs, the Yanks remain six to five favorites to do it again in the 50th Series. The Dodgers, who took the Yanks to seven games last fall, never have won a Series. This is their seventh try. The Yanks stand 15-4 in Series competition with the American League out front 32-17.

The Series, fast becoming a New York monopoly, gets under way at 1:05 p.m. before 70,000 fans and millions more on television (NBC) and radio (Mutual). Summery weather with the temperature in the eighties was forecast by the Weather Bureau.

Furillo, who broke his little finger in a fist fight with Leo Durocher, September 6, sprayed hits to all fields in a workout at Ebbets Field. He wore a bandage on his left hand used a bat with a foam rubber pad taped to the handle.

Woodling also took a full cut in the Yanks' mid-day tuneup at the Stadium. He, too, used a bat with a rubber pad about four inches up the handle.

Both managers "Casey" Stengel of the Yanks and "Chuck" Dressen of the Dodgers missed most of their workouts to attend a meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick, National League President Warren Giles and the six umpires. WFL Harridge, American League president was too busy with his own league business and the shift of the St. Louis Browns, to attend.

Frick told both managers that lights would be turned on in any game, including Sunday, if the umpires so ruled. The ump's will have complete charge of the games, once started. Bill Grieve, veteran American League ump, will work behind the plate in the first game because it is being played in the Yankee park. Both managers were warned they would be held responsible for all actions of their players.

Cy Young, who won two games for the Boston Red Sox against Pittsburgh in the first series back in 1903, is to throw out the first ball after the usual opening day ceremonies.

The Yanks will open the bleachers for sale of 11,000 seats at $2 per at 9 a.m. The stands will be open for sale of standing room an hour later.

Bearden Goes To Minors

Chicago (AP) — The Chicago White Sox decided to send Gene Bearden, veteran pitcher, to the Charleston club in the American Association.

Tebbetts Agrees To Manage Cincinnati For Two Seasons

New York (AP) — George "Birdie" Tebbetts yesterday was named manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs for 1954 and 1955, succeeding the recently fired Rogers Hornsby.

Tebbetts, veteran major league catcher managed Indianapolis of the American Association this season. He finished fourth with the Cleveland farm club.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati club, did not announce any salary terms. Paul said he had considered Tebbetts for some time but did not discuss the matter with him until yesterday.

Beginning Tebbetts, who'll be 39 years old November 10, joined the majors as catcher for Detroit in 1936 but after appearing in 10 games returned to Beaumont in the Texas League.

He came back to the Tigers the following year and never was out of the majors again until sent by Cleveland to manage the club's Indianapolis farm this year.

After three years in the service 1943-45 he returned to Detroit and was traded to the Boston Red Sox for catcher Harold Wagner May 20, 1947. The Red Sox, in turn, sold him to the Cleveland Indians December 13, 1950. He saw very little action with the Indians.

Tebbetts is a native of Nashua, N. H., where he runs an insurance business during the off season.

District Head To Visit Local Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Stroudsburg tomorrow will be host to Frank T. Dolbear, governor of District 262 of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 36 Rotary Clubs in Northeast Pennsylvania. He will confer with local officers on Rotary Administration and service activities.

Frank T. Dolbear

Mr. Dolbear is supervising principal of Tunkhannock Joint Schools and is a member of the Rotary Club of Tunkhannock. He was elected district governor at the annual Rotary convention in Paris, France, last May.

He is one of the 212 district governors supervising the activities of some 8,000 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 372,000 business and professional executives in 86 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the local clubs because they are based on the same general objectives: developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Hospital Annually Gives Many Days Of Free Care

(This is the first of a series of articles on the Red Feather agencies of your Community Chest.)

By Leonard Kanioloph

Few Red Feather agencies serve Monroe County on a broader and more continual basis than General Hospital.

During the last fiscal year, from June 1, 1952 to May 31, 1953, the hospital cared for 603 charity patients.

This means that a total of 4,863 patient-days were contributed by the hospital to this community on an entirely cost-free basis.

Not satisfied with their constant contributions to the county in service alone, hospital employees also kicked-in more than $300 to the Community Chest drive last year.

On the surface this sum may not seem startling. But, as is the case in many other instances where the hospital is concerned, the public may have been badly misinformed where matters of institutional salary are under discussion.

Hospital employees, most of them nurses, attendants and internes, are definitely not in the upper of upper-middle income brackets. As a matter of fact, simple fact, most of them work at salaries below those paid to skilled and semi-skilled laborers.

Because the hospital employees believe firmly in the fundamental purpose of their work, to serve the community in which they live, they regard the annual Community Chest drive with solemn reverence.

They know, as do hospital officials, that without the Chest and the continued contributions of all Monroe county citizens, the hospital could not continue to offer its advanced, modern, moderate-cost medical and surgical care.

Some of the employees, consequently, when called on to donate to the Chest drive, dug down deep, very deep, under the circumstances.

Allocating their contributions on the basis of quarterly payments, the employees helped place the hospital near the top in donations from public service agencies throughout the county.

There are many other facts about Monroe County General which need to be published, facts which prove with finality that the institution is one of the most valuable and least appreciated services offered to persons in this area.

First of all, let's take a long look at those "charity" patients.

As has been previously mentioned, 603 persons received free board, room, care, possible surgery and treatment in the hospital last year.

An average eight day period was donated to each for his recovery

The total number of patient days was 4,863.

This care and treatment cost the hospital a whopping $66,772.76.

To help offset at least a portion of the cost for charity treatment, the hospital received the following contributions:

State funds reimbursed $27,000.

The Community Chest returned $16,772.50.

Monroe County commissioners allocated another $2,500.

These donations totaled only $33,772.50.

An extra $3,303.97 came from donations sent to the hospital from persons who do not reside in Monroe County. These were former patients of the hospital who appreciated the treatment and care they had received in the local institution.

This means a total of $39,266.47 came into the hospital to help alleviate its $66,772.76 free-patient burden.

As a result of the gap between the two sums, the hospital ended its fiscal year with a $13,221.66 deficit—a loss which continues to accrue during the present fiscal year. It is a loss which cannot possibly be replaced under normal circumstances.

The arrangement made by State with the hospital and all other hospitals in the Commonwealth, proves far from satisfactory in the face of rising costs on all hospital levels.

Here's the way it works: When a patient who is unable to pay his hospital bill prepares to leave the hospital, he (or a family representative) is shown the total bill for services rendered.

Under many circumstances, the family is unable to pay the bill. Numerous patients, for example, are already being supported by the Department of Public Assistance or receive old-age benefits, have no jobs, no excess income or no property ownership to give them security.

Whether a person is able to pay is a matter of no importance under the hospital management. He still must be cared for, if there is sufficient room for the treatment.

When the family is unable to pay, the hospital bills out a form listing liabilities, limited income and other facts in the family background.

ground; sends a file to State. It's when the State reimburses the hospital that the financial rub begins.

It costs the hospital between $11 and $12 per day to room, board and care for a patient—excluding surgery, some diagnostic services and treatments for chronic illnesses.

State, however, pays back only $6.50 per patient-day for charity patients treated by the hospital. This difference alone leaves a deficit of four to six dollars per day on patients treated without charge.

When the State puts back its $21,000 share of the charity load, matters are helped a little. But no financial solution has been reached.

Local resources within the community MUST therefore be tapped. This year the Chest campaign will net $10,500 for the hospital.
